Submission guidelines :

1. All participants are expected to adhere to the deadlines. Final submission: Initiate at 11:30 AM closes at 12:30 PM.
2. Regular commits: Keep making regular commits to your GitHub repository. Avoid committing huge amounts of code in a single commit.
3. Any commits after 12 PM won't be considered, we will be checking the logs. Extra 30 minutes are given just for making the video submission. Length of the video submission in devfolio should not be above 5 minutes.
4. There should be a README file in the GitHub repository which contains the following:
   a. Title
   b. Description of the hack
   c. Tech stack used
   d. Installation steps: A clear sequence of steps to run your hack
   e. Libraries and dependencies required for the project
   f. Declaration of Previous Work: In case the project is a continuation of a previous project, the README file should separately mention what has been implemented before and what has been done in the last 24 hours.
5. The final submission must be done on Devfolio, please make sure to read the Devfolio guidelines mentioned here: https://guide.devfolio.co/hackers/participate/project-submission
